

Disability Diversity Presentations

Dear Disability or Diversity Program Administrator,

Are your students, faculty, colleagues or personnel prepared to interact with people with disabilities or the diverse population they will encounter in every aspect of their daily lives?

Let me introduce myself. My name is Al Foxx. I'm the founder and president of the Winners Don't Quit Association, a non-profit organization with a mission to educate people about issues related to disabilities and diversity.

With humor and drama, I tell my personal story about surviving a disabling motorcycle crash at the age of 18, to break down misconceptions and discomfort people generally have concerning people with disabilities and others who are unlike themselves.

I invite you to read the enclosed flyer and visit my website for detailed information about myself, my presentations and testimonials from many happy clients, to understand how your organization will benefit from the practical wisdom and insight my powerful message offers.

To discuss scheduling a time/date, cost and acquiring quantity discounts of my inspiring autobiography No Limits, please contact my booking agent, Rich Dover, at 877-555-FOXX.

Sincerely,

Al Foxx / President, Winners Don't Quit Association
