

Winners Don't Quit

A 50-minute presentation that inspires people to replace an overwhelmed perception of circumstances with an attitude of triumph. Al Foxx knows what he's talking about. Involved in a paralyzing motorcycle crash when he was just 18, Al Foxx shares how he altered his reality by rebuilding his self-image and changing his perception.

A STRONG SELF-IMAGE TOGETHER WITH A BELIEF IN YOUR PURPOSE is an unbeatable combination. People spend fortunes on things designed to make them feel better about themselves, and they pay more to counselors who are trained to help them see themselves as valuable.

Al Foxx has been there and back and back again. At 18, he had the kind of life, friends, and possessions every teenager wants. A few days before his 19th birthday, a motorcycle crash gave him the kind of life no teenager wants. Though half his body remains paralyzed, for over 25 years, Al Foxx has rebuilt his life. His once crushed self-image and negative outlook have become his strongest allies.

Providence has hidden a charm in difficult undertakings which is appreciated only by those who dare to grapple with them.

Content Of Al Foxx's Presentation

Audiences cheer the net Al weaves as he develops his practical, inspiring ideas using audience interaction, personal examples, and proven wisdom delivered with tasteful good humor. To give people something easy to remember, he builds his speech around three powerful A-B-C steps:

A – Accepting yourself leads to appreciating yourself.

B – Believing you're a winner leads to behaving like a winner.

C - Caring about others is the ultimate calling.

Al Foxx is the real thing. You'll sense it. You'll believe it. You'll be it.
